

Dear Scouters,

We are pleased to be able to return to Scouting activities. To do our best to support the health and safety of our Scouts and their families, we have developed a set of precautions.

- We are asking each participant to attest to their health and travel history before coming on the activity.
- We are taking the temperature of each participant when arriving at the activity. If they have a temperature in excess of 100 degrees Fahrenheit, they will not be able to stay. If you become sick or develop symptoms, you will be asked to isolate, go home and seek care. We suggest that you check temperatures before leaving home. Guests and visitors must also go through these pre-gathering protocols and screening.
- Each Participant will be driven to and taken home by his family.
- We will hold a safety briefing for all participants upon arrival.
- Participants should bring enough face masks for the whole event, plus one extra as back-up. The Participant should always keep the face mask in their possession. The Program will have spare masks available.
- The Program will provide paper/plastic plates, bowls, cups and utensils for meals; Participants won't need mess kits. While disposable products consume environmental resources, they are a temporary safety precaution.
- Participants will be required to wear face masks throughout the event (face masks must cover both the nose and mouth and latch behind the ears), with the following exceptions:
 - Face Masks are not required when Participants are more than six feet from a non-related person.
 - Face Masks are not required when Scouts are in their tents/hammocks.
- Even when all Participants are masked, we will ask them to keep a safe distance. When sitting at the table, around the fire, or at other gatherings, please occupy every other space and leave one body width of space between people.
- Compliance is important to respecting the health and safety of others. Scouts should also be comfortable asking another person to "give them some space" if people get too close for their personal comfort.
- Every Participant should practice frequent hand hygiene and bring their own supply of hand sanitizer. The Program will provide additional hand sanitizer.
